

Order Picker License Seattle

Order Picker License Seattle - Order picking is also referred to as order preparation operation. This is among the key processes within a warehouse and consists of people called order pickers, collecting and taking articles in a certain quantity before shipment in order to accomplish customer orders. Order picking is a simple warehousing process. The efficiency in which this particular job is accomplished can be directly related to the productivity of a supply chain. Thus, order picking is one of the most controlled logistic processes. Order picking falls within the category of the warehouse management system.

There are particular types of order picking which include: wave picking method, pick to box method, piece picking or picker to part method, sorting systems method and zone picking method.

The pick to box method comprises the order picker filling the box with the items from his or her station. The box then moves to other picking locations until the client order is complete. In this particular technique, there is no movement of the order picker workers. In the wave picking method, the order pickers move round so as to collect the necessary items for several orders. The piece picking or picker to part method is similar where the order pickers or picker move to gather the stuff needed but for one order only.

In the sorting systems method, there is no movement of the order picking employees. Instead, the things are delivered to her or him through an automated system like for example automatic storage or a conveyor system. In the zone picking method, every order picker is assigned to one specific zone. They are responsible for just realizing order picking in this particular zone.
